We also remember, with love, those who were taken commemorate the anniversaries of their passing.

Have you ever wondered what life was like for Jews throughout history as the minority within a larger majority? These lectures will explore Jewish life under Christian Europe and under Islamic rule in the Iberian Peninsula and in the Middle East. The focus will be on specific historical epochs that illustrate the impact the non-Jewish majority populations had on Judaism and Jewish life. Lecture is led by Stessa Peers, a TBA member and graduate of Binghamton University where she specialized in Judaic History.

The series continues on November 2 and November 16.
For more information, contact adulted@tba-nyc.org.
