Why

For a more equitable community.

After the murder of George Floyd, many of us “woke up” in a way we never had before.

We were motivated to learn more, do more. Some participated in a six-week discussion of Robin DiAngelo’s White Fragility led by the Rabbi. These were enlightening, humbling, informative, and important discussions.

But there is so much more to learn and understand. To that end we (Sharon DeLevie and Rachel Zive) have created a Racial Justice Learning Group. We have been gathering materials to share with you: videos, lectures, articles, podcasts, webinars and more.

For four weeks in January, participants will do 30 minutes of homework, and then we’ll come together weekly for an hour to discuss what we’ve learned and how we feel about it. Please join us on this important journey toward racial justice. If you can be with us for January 6, 14, 20, and 27, please contact us at racialjusticelearninggroup@gmail.com

Looking forward to learning with you,

Sharon DeLevie and Rachel Zive
